Academic Project: Division and Replication of Data in cloud for optimal performance and security(DROPS)

- We proposed the DROPS methodology, a cloud storage security scheme that collectively deals with the security and performance in terms of retrieval time
- The data file was fragmented and the fragments are dispersed over multiple nodes.
- The fragmentation and dispersal ensured that no significant information was obtainable by an adversary in case of a successful attack.No node in the cloud,stored more than a single fragment of the same file.
- The performance of the DROPS methodology was compared with full-scale replication techniques.
- The results of the simulations revealed that the simultaneous focus on the security and performance resulted in increased security level of data accompanied by a slight performance drop.
- Currently with the DROPS methodology,a user has to download the file,update the contents, and upload it again.
